

International event: Registration for Game Inventors Convention 2025

The Internationale Spieleerfindermesse – Game Inventors Convention gets its next outing in 2025 and will again be offering the ideal stage for creative games authors. This popular event, incorporated into the major international network that is the Spielwarenmesse, takes place on Friday 31 January, for the third time at the exhibition site itself. Between 9 am and 6 pm, participants will be presenting their innovative games ideas and prototypes in a concentrated space in NCC Mitte, in the Brussels and Munich exhibition halls and on Level 1 of the foyer. Games publishers' and agencies' editorial teams can take advantage of the short distances involved to gain a broad and varied overview of the latest ideas in gaming.

Interest is widespread and international: so far, games authors from Germany, Italy, Spain, the UK, Switzerland, the Netherlands, the Czech Republic, France, Israel, Hungary, Austria and the USA have registered for the event. One more highlight is the GamingHour, which takes place from 6 pm to 10 pm. Here, in a relaxed atmosphere, all participants in the Game Inventors Convention, games publishers and media representatives can make contacts, swap ideas and come together over snacks, drinks and music to try out exciting new ideas.

Registration is open until 6 December 2024 at www.spielwarenmesse.de/gic.
